Vote Slated On Plans To Extend Pay

Unemployment Drop Slight As Outdoor Job Hike Reported

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House starts work today on a bill to extend jobless benefits, with a wide-open choice of how to go about it. One of the hottest legislative battles of the present Congress was in prospect before the final vote is cast sometime late this week.

"We have a real fight on our hands," conceded Rep. Forand (D-RI), a leader of the Democratic forces backing a measure to pay federal jobless grants to the vast majority of the nation's five million unemployed.

Ranged against it were most House Republicans and a substantial number of Democrats who think either that the bill does not go far enough, or that it goes too far.

Proposals Temporary

The issue, however, was expected to narrow down to the program of temporary unemployment relief loans to the states as proposed by President Eisenhower, and the sweeping program of federal grants proposed by the Democrats. Both proposals would be temporary, expiring next year.

The Democratic proposal carries a 1½-billion-dollar price tag. The Administration's program is figured to cost around 750 to 800 million dollars, which the Treasury would get back from the states.

The House Rules Committee, in clearing the measure for floor debate, gave the House an opportunity, to start voting Thursday on a variety of alternatives including the Administration plan.

Under present law, jobless benefits are financed out of employer payroll taxes which go into a trust fund until needed. Terms and conditions governing payments vary from state to state, as do amounts and the period of coverage.

Employment Increase Listed Below Normal

WASHINGTON (AP)—A spring increase in outdoor work has brought a surge in employment and a slight drop in joblessness—but no letup in demands for government anti-recession action.

Releasing its figures 10 days earlier than usual, the Commerce Department said unemployment dropped 78,000 during April—the first decline since last October—but far short of the normal 300,000 to 350,000 decline from March to April.

The report was issued as the House prepared to debate a bill for extension of jobless benefits. Along with the April jobless total of 5,120,000, the department

Court Revokes Driving Rights In Fatal Mishap

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Martin L. Stapleton, 60, of Columbus, had his driving rights revoked for life in Ohio yesterday after a Criminal Court jury found him guilty of second degree manslaughter in the traffic death of his son-in-law.

The victim, Sidney Miller, 38, of Middletown, Md., was killed in a two-car accident Jan. 13 at a street intersection here. Stapleton was driving the car in which Miller was riding.

Testimony showed Stapleton had picked up Miller and three other passengers at Port Columbus Airport and was driving them to a local hotel.

Missile Czar Under Hitler Urges U. S. Space Director

WASHINGTON (AP)—A onetime missile czar under Hitler suggested today that President Eisenhower take on another vice president to direct space work.

Dr. Walter R. Dornberger, now a Bell Aircraft Corp. assistant, proposed this idea before the House Space Committee. His plan soared beyond Eisenhower's more modest proposal to set up a civilian space agency.

Space work between here and the moon should be handled by the military because of its prime military importance within the next 20 years, he added. He said civilian scientists could have re-

Clean Bombs Goal Of U. S., Ike Declares

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today the policy of his administration is to have cleaner nuclear bombs.

Eisenhower told his news conference that 40 per cent of the efforts in forthcoming Pacific tests will be devoted toward eliminating as much as possible of the fallout from smaller nuclear weapons.

The President made his observation about American policy in response to a request for comment on a recent statement by Sen. Anderson (D-NM) that the United States is making some of its bombs dirtier while it talks publicly of producing clean weapons.

Eisenhower said that so far as he knows no military officer ever suggested making bombs dirtier. The whole policy, he said, is to have cleaner bombs—ones that do not deal out such horrible mass destruction.

Eisenhower said the proportion of fallout from nuclear weapons depends at this time largely on the size of those weapons. He pointed out that it is inverse to the size.

Eisenhower said the big hydrogen bomb can be produced so that it has only about 4 per cent fallout.

On the other hand, the President said, the fallout from very small bombs is about 100 per cent. Some of the forthcoming tests, Eisenhower indicated are being directed toward cleaning up these smaller weapons so they can be used for tactical purposes.

Nasser Starts Kremlin Talks

MOSCOW (AP)—President Nasser and Premier Khrushchev opened formal talks in the Kremlin today on political and economic relations between the United Arab Republic and the Soviet Union.

Canine Comfort Station Plans Get N. Y. Study

NEW YORK (AP)—Officials and sanitation experts were called into session today to discuss plans for dog comfort stations in city streets.

The canine comfort stations are planned for residential neighborhoods where people keep substantial numbers of the city's 272,000 dogs and where curbing of dogs is difficult because of parked cars.

Sanitation Commissioner Paul R. Screvane called the conference as part of his current "Big Sweep" cleanup campaign.

His craftsmen have prepared several experimental models of dog comfort stations.

East Chilled As Texas Hit By Tornadoes

By The Associated Press

Cold air moved into the Eastern third of the country today as temperature moderated in parts of the chilled Midwest.

The cold air moved southeastward during the night and spread to near the Atlantic and Gulf coasts and was expected to envelop almost all areas during the day.

Temperatures dropped from 15 to 20 degrees from Lower Michigan to western sections of the Atlantic Coast states and southwestward through the Ohio Valley; northern parts of the Gulf Coast states and into Oklahoma and Texas.

Temperatures in the frosty belt ranged from the 20s in the northern Great Lakes region through the 30s in the Ohio Valley and the 40s and 50s toward the leading edge of the cold air mass.

Showers and thunderstorms erupted near the cold air front in the South and East. Heaviest storms were in Texas, which was hit by rain, hail and strong winds in north, central and eastern sections. Tornadoes also hit Texas, damaging buildings, but no injuries were reported.

NYC Cuts Executives

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Central Railroad expects to save $200,000 a year by cutting the salaries of its 137 executives earning more than $15,000 annually. The trimming will equal 10 per cent of the amount above $15,000.

Johnson Says Hearings Set On Labor Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The prospect of new labor legislation from Congress this year seemed a bit improved today.

Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, Senate Democratic leader, said after a conference with AFL-CIO leaders that he told them the Senate is determined to pass adequate legislation to curb labor corruption.

Johnson said the Senate Labor Committee will start hearings next Monday on a wide variety of labor law proposals. AFL-CIO President George Meany said the federation would cooperate in legislation to clean up labor racketeering.

In the House, Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) said he expects the Labor Committee to approve a bill, passed by the Senate Monday, to require public accounting to the government of all employee welfare and pension fund operations. However, this bill may not reach the House floor before late May.

Flanders Set To Shun Race

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.) has decided to retire from the Senate after this year—the fifth GOP incumbent to quit voluntarily.

Flanders, 77, announced Tuesday he is leaving the Senate after two terms so he and his wife can do the "many things which are left for us to do and see."

He added "There is . . . no reason of health or strength" involved. Others leaving after this year are Sen. Knowland, the GOP Senate leader who is quitting to run for governor of California; Sen. Jenner of Indiana; Sen. Edward Martin of Pennsylvania; and Sen. H. Alexander Smith of New Jersey.

Bigger And Better Navy Pushes Program To Send Up Satellites

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Navy scientists forged ahead with plans for a bigger and better Vanguard rocket program today after learning that the latest launching was washed out by wire trouble.

Officials announced in Washington that the 72-foot rocket failed about 300 miles up when a malfunction developed in the electronic system of the second stage.

As a result, the rocket's third stage did not ignite after what appeared to be a successful launching Monday night. Instead, it pushed the fourth U. S. satellite into orbit, Vanguard plummeted about 1,500 miles out to sea.

From telemetry data obtained during the flight, the Naval Research Laboratory learned that the rocket and its 20-inch sphere-

Army Chief Recalled In Change Quiz

Taylor Testimony On Defense System Brings Criticism

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today any basic compromise on his defense reorganization plan would mean a retreat to a dangerous degree of military ineffectiveness.

Eisenhower told his news conference he is not rigid about the wording of any defense reorganization bill.

But he said it would be all wrong to change the basic principles of the plan he sent to Congress.

Proposals Under Fire

While the President was stating his views the proposal continued under fire in a hearing before the House Armed Services Committee. Influential members of that group oppose its concentration of authority in the office of the secretary of defense and the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Just before the news conference opened Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army chief of staff, conceded in the hearing that the plan could reduce the civilian secretaries of the individual armed services to the status of flunkies.

But Taylor said that wouldn't happen unless authority carried in the bill was misused.

Eisenhower said either we are going to do the right thing or we are not.

He said every single concession possible to make toward the individual pride and morale of each of the services had been made before he submitted his program.

'Acts As Agent'

Taylor told the House Armed Services Committee the Army still is acting as "executive agent" for several of these commands. Eisenhower wants the command structure to bypass the individual service in such cases, so that authority would be exerted direct from the secretary of defense and Joint Chiefs of Staff to the troops in the field.

Says Action Needed

Rep. Price (D-III) commented that the episode shows "this legislation is just an alibi for poor leadership."

Singer To Get Big Estate In Widow's Will

STAMFORD, Conn. (AP)—A professional singer will receive more than a million dollars under the terms of the will of a wealthy Stamford widow who adopted him two years ago when he was 54 and she 78.

Andrei Kristopher, 56, is principal beneficiary of Mrs. Bertha Louise Draper, who died here last April 5. Her will was admitted to probate Tuesday.

Kristopher and his wife, who died in 1935, were long-time friends of Mrs. Draper, widow of Charles Draper, a retired New Haven railroad executive. Kristopher had assisted her in handling her business affairs.

Mrs. Draper adopted Kristopher in 1956. It was stated, for the specific purpose of giving him the inheritance rights of a natural son. At the time it was testified in court that her only living relatives were unnamed cousins.

First Daughter Joins 14 Boys, Father Pleased

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn. (AP)—A newborn girl has caused a sensation in the Emory Harrison household.

She is the first daughter born to the family that gained nationwide publicity when their 14th son was born three years ago this month.

Mother and daughter are reported well at a hospital here.

Fiscus Rescue Hero Ditch Cavein Victim

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Just nine years ago one of the world's most heartbreaking rescue attempts failed to save the life of Kathy Fiscus, 3.

When the child's body at last was being hoisted from the 84-foot well into which she had fallen, rescue worker Bill Yancey spoke the final words of the grueling, 49-hour underground fight: "Easy, men; keep it coming up gently."

Moments later Yancey emerged from the hole, the body of little Kathy in his arms.

Yancey died Tuesday, much in the same manner—underground, and barely a mile from the Fiscus tragedy. Three others associated with Kathy's accident have died violently.

Yancey, 47-year-old contractor, went into an eight-foot sewer ditch with the same disregard for danger that he displayed when he looted two days below ground trying to save Kathy. A man had been sent for timbers to shore the ditch, but Yancey didn't wait.

"He said he'd be all right and jumped down," related coworker Ted Slade. "I started to move some equipment . . . and when I looked around the earth had caved in and Bill was buried."

Others dug desperately to uncover Yancey's head. Firemen administered oxygen. But Yancey was dead, his chest crushed.

Tragedy has followed other Fiscus rescue workers. One was hurt in an auto explosion the same year. Another died in a 1949 construction accident. The wife of a third was murdered, in 1953.

And, in 1952, the wife of the rescue's director, Mrs. Raymond Hill, was killed in a traffic accident—just one block from the spot where Yancey died.

Before General Motors Corp. served a showdown notice on the union Tuesday, speculation had centered on Ford as the union's likely target in the auto industry's GM Department, told in 1953 negotiations. Ford was the target in 1955.

GM took the initiative in giving the union 30-day notice that the current three-year contract will end at midnight May 29. GM virtually invited the union to make

President Speaks Out On Plan For Pentagon Changes

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today the April decline in unemployment cannot be interpreted as meaning for sure that the nation is on the high road to recovery from the recession.

But he said he believes there is continuing evidence the business slump is flattening out.

Asked at a news conference about the possibility of an anti-recession tax cut, Eisenhower stuck to his previous position—that the situation must have more study and analysis before a decision on that.

Asked About Upturn

The first question put to Eisenhower was whether he believes the 78,000 decline in unemployment for the month ended in mid-April means that an economic upturn is under way.

The President replied he does not think there is justification for such a categorical statement. He noted that when the employment and joblessness figures are adjusted for seasonal factors, there still is a good bit of unemployment.

Eisenhower then went on to say that in his view we can't assert that we are now on the high road to advance, or recovery from the recession.

The conference was Eisenhower's sixth weekly session in a row with newsmen. His record set in 1954, is eight conferences in a row.

In contrast to last week when his temper flared a couple of times, Eisenhower was in a mostly jovial mood today. But he spoke out emphatically and forcefully several times, particularly regarding his controversial defense reorganization plan.

The discussion ranged over these topics:

PENTAGON REORGANIZATION—Eisenhower said he will continue to insist on all the essential provisions of his plan because any retreat would mean that the United States could not be properly defended.

He is not necessarily wedded to all the language of the administration bill, he said, but added that a compromise or retreat on essentials to a degree which would jeopardize U. S. defense would be inexcusable.

ARCTIC INSPECTION—Eisenhower called it just silly for the Soviet Union to take the position that the United States is trying to make propaganda in proposing an arctic aerial inspection system to guard against massive surprise attack.

Indo Premier Files Charge

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Prime Minister Djanda today charged that American and Chinese Nationalist "adventurers" are flying rebel planes bombing points in east Indonesia.

The Premier warned that, if indignation over the alleged foreign involvement is permitted to grow, "it will have a disastrous effect" on relations between the United States and Indonesia.

When the rebels launched their revolt in February, they had no war planes. They now are believed in Jakarta to possess four B26 bombers and two Mustang fighters.

Pilot Does 'Impossible' To Land Blazing Plane

ABILENE, Tex. — A young Air Force copilot, his B47 jet bomber afire and the top canopy blown off, braved subzero weather and wind that scared his eyeballs to land the plane here Monday night rather than abandon a fellow officer.

First Lt. James E. Obenau, 24, Grayslake, Ill., made a perfect landing while flying from the blind copilot's seat, something the Strategic Air Command said had been considered impossible because he is behind a solid bulkhead and cannot see forward.

The B47 was in a training flight from Amarillo to Denver. At 30,000 feet, near Dalhart, Tex., one of its six jet engines caught fire.

First Lt. John P. Cobb, 25, Elko, Nev., navigator, bailed out through the escape hatch.

Maj. James M. Graves, 38, Fort Worth, the pilot, blasted off the top canopy. His ejection seat did not work and he bailed out through the nose escape hatch.

Obenau's ejection seat also failed to work. On his way to the Republican presidential nominee nose he discovered Maj. James E. Maxwell, 32, Portsmouth, Va., party, and that there are a lot of navigation instructor, unconscious of good men available.

Unable to get Maxwell through whether in his view the Presidential hatch, Obenau returned to his duty has a responsibility to the copilot's position. The controls courage those not in political life there were the only ones working.

There he was flying blind with the wind whipping through the cabin at 400 miles an hour. Ground control stations gave him his position and permission to fly 300 miles to Dyess Air Force Base, here, his home base. He made a perfect landing.

He and Maxwell were hospitalized for shock, frost bite and burning eyes. Their condition was reported good.

Graves and Cobb landed on ranches near Dalhart. They suffered bruises.

Also Claims

Eisenhower said his reaction to this Soviet contention is one of sadness.

He said the United States advanced the proposal in all seriousness and good faith, and noted that it stemmed from Soviet charges that nuclear-armed American bombers flying over the polar area toward Russia's frontier are endangering the peace.

Party Must Pick Man

POLITICS—Eisenhower said the failed to work. On his way to the Republican presidential nominee nose he discovered Maj. James E. Maxwell, 32, Portsmouth, Va., party, and that there are a lot of navigation instructor, unconscious of good men available.

Eisenhower had been asked to seek the presidency.

Eisenhower at first interpreted that as a question whether he was grooming a successor. He declined that he is doing that. The choice among men thought by the public and the party to be successful prospects.

At that point, Eisenhower himself brought up the name of Vice President Nixon, regarded by many as a front runner for the 1960 presidential nomination.

Nixon and he, Eisenhower said, are warm friends, and he admires and respects the vice president.

But beyond that, Eisenhower added, he has a duty to keep Nixon well informed regarding what is going on in government inner circles. As a result, he said, Nixon today is right up on everything.

NUCLEAR BOMBS — Commenting on a contention by Sen. Anderson (D-NM), Eisenhower said no military officer ever has suggested that this country ought to produce dirtier atomic and hydrogen bombs—that is bombs with a high radioactive fallout.

Anderson, vice chairman of the House-Senate Atomic Energy Committee, said last weekend that some of this country's nuclear bombs have been pulled out of the stockpile and revamped to make them dirtier.

The newest U.S. H-bombs, Eisenhower said, are only about 4 per cent dirty as compared with 100 per cent a few years ago.

Bandit Victims Forced To Strip

ELKTON, Md. — Two bandits forced three men at a service station to strip early today and then fled with about $235 and all the men's clothing. The men were locked in a washroom.

State attendants William Hufelt of Glasgow and Roger Johnson of North East said that while they were being held up an unidentified truck driver walked in. He also was forced to give up his wallet and clothing.

The bandits got about $20 from each man and $175 from the cash register of the station.

reported an increase of 396,000 in employment to a new total of 62,907,000 persons working. Secretary of Commerce Weeks said nearly all the gain in employment resulted from the usual spring pickup in agriculture and other outdoor activities.

Paradoxically, although unemployment declined, the report said the percentage of jobless persons increased from 7 per cent in March to 7½ per cent in April, on a seasonally adjusted basis, which takes into account a number of statistical factors.

Meany Sees It Worsen

AFL-CIO President George Meany, referring especially to the less than normal drop in unemployment, said the report proves the recession continues to worsen.

Meany, calling anew for prompt anti-recession legislation, said: "Immediate action to improve and extend unemployment compensation and to cut taxes on low and middle income individuals is essential if America is to be put back to work."

In a similar vein, the Democratic Advisory Council urged a tax cut of more than three billion dollars in lower income brackets, plus new billions in public spending and a further drop in interest rates.

Need Of Czar In TV Cited

LOS ANGELES — Increased violations of television's good conduct code could indicate that an industry czar is needed, says a New York advertising executive.

But Marion Harper Jr., president of McCann-Erickson, Inc., said Tuesday he believed strict enforcement of TV's self-discipline is certainly to be preferred to outside censorship.

"The code's provision for self-discipline is certainly to be preferred to outside censorship," he told the National Assn. of Broadcasters in convention here.

If the violations were more common, or if the recession — apparently through lower advertising standards — forces more abuses "an industry czar might be indicated," he said.

Servicemen's Pay Increase Seen By July

WASHINGTON (AP)—Unanimous Senate action practically guaranteed an early pay increase for the nation's fighting men today—possibly by June.

The Senate, with little debate, passed a broad military pay incentive bill 87-0 Tuesday and returned it to the House for probable compromise talks.

Rep. Kilday (D-Tex.), generally credited with drafting the bill previously passed by the House, indicated the Senate measure was not acceptable. He said he probably would seek a Senate-House conference committee to work out a compromise.

All indications, however, pointed to an early agreement. At the rate the bill is now moving, this could mean pay increases becoming effective possibly in June.

Court Test Scheduled On New State Inventory Assessment

BALTIMORE (AP)—A State Tax Commission official says he understands at least one court test will be made of a new State-law designed to save about 18 million dollars in annual revenue from the personal property tax.

Albert W. Ward, executive secretary for the tax commission, said yesterday he has received assurance that a test will be made by at least one of 50 firms protesting inventory assessments.

He declined to name the firm but said its attorney told him the case would be taken to the Court of Appeals if necessary.

The high court ruled last November that the commission should assess business inventories in the same manner it assesses real estate.

Maryland legal experts generally agree the ruling could be extended to include all personal property. Since real estate assessments are lower, the Court of Appeals' interpretation of the law would have the effect of forcing a reduction in personal property assessments.

The tax commission estimated that the reduction of personal property taxes under the new ruling would cost the counties up to $5,200,000 a year and the State as much as $8,500,000. The commission countered the legislation separating real and high court decision by obtaining personal classifications.

Park Pool Staff To Be Appointed

Appointments to the staff of the Constitution Park swimming pool will be made about May 15, the Recreation Department announced.

The staff will include the pool manager, head lifeguard, four regular and two extra lifeguards, and four regular and two extra cashier-checkers.

C. Eugene Mason, rec director, said several members of last year's pool staff have applied for jobs this year and that this will cut down the number of openings.

The Recreation Department has received about 150 applications for summer jobs.

Workers in the playground and ball field program will be selected about June 1.

Teen-Age Heroes

SOME OF THE MOST unpleasant reading in newspapers these days concerns the rising crime rate among teenagers. According to figures released by the Federal Bureau of Investigation recently, arrests of teen-agers involving all types of crimes rose again in 1957. Auto theft was up 68 per cent; burglary up 55 per cent. Other figures are equally disheartening.

THESE FACTS can't be denied. But there was one recent news story concerning the younger generation which makes for inspiring reading—one that reminds us that there is a lot more to say about teen-agers than mere police figures. This news event was the annual awarding of medals for heroism by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission. This year 18 persons were cited for outstanding acts of bravery. Of these, 11 awards went to heroes under 21, one of the largest groups of young persons since the commission was established in 1904. Nine of the 11 were teenagers or younger.

AMONG THEM was a 15-year-old boy who, although he couldn't swim, gave his life trying to save a smaller boy from drowning. Another boy, 14, rescued a pal from a cave-in, only to be caught himself. Youngest hero was a 12-year-old boy who, despite lameness caused by polio, saved an eight-year-old girl from drowning. These awards go a long way toward putting the other news about teen-agers back into proper perspective.

Vox Humana Again

LATELY THE HI-FI set has been bringing in a new sound—a sound new, that is, to a generation nurtured on rock 'n' roll and other such pap. This sound is the sonorous tones of the theater organ. The King of Instruments, they used to call it in the premier days of Eddie Dunstetter and Jesse Crawford. Judging from what can be heard, and as accented by the advances in present day recording technique, the theater organ is still a contender for that title. An instrument with a multitude of voices, it was perfectly adaptable to the demands of the silent screen, from falling down stairs to the tender love scene in the garden. In silent movie days, the organist added much to one's enjoyment of a film. Now some of these five-manual giants are being dusted off and, to the delight of music lovers with a long memory, are speaking again. Next time you hear these sounds on your set, turn the volume way up and it may be that old Hoot Gibson will go riding by.

Getting Bigger

THERE'S GOT to be a reaction one of these days. Everything is getting big, big, BIG. Some customers don't like our big American cars. But they keep getting bigger. Everybody knows about that big Russian satellite which weighed in at about 7,000 pounds, they tell us. The Reds had no sooner published a four and a half-pound novel ("Gone With the Wind" doesn't even compare) than an Indiana boy builds what he says is the world's largest kite. Now a fellow in California has smashed the endurance record for model airplanes formerly held by the Russians. But the pendulum is bound to come back. We're looking for 10-foot-wide superhighways to accommodate new U.S. supermini cars, peanut-sized satellites "manned" by fleas with headphones and pop-fly home runs (at the Los Angeles Coliseum). There's a natural cycle to explain all this but it's too big a problem to go into.

Gloomy Talk

THE COMPETITIVE chatter between Russia and the United States has taken on a rather funeral tone. First Brother Khrushchev tells us that he and his countrymen will "bury" us. Then Secretary of Defense McElroy says that Nikita knows full well we can bury him. Of course we can't control what the supposedly jolly peasant premier of the Soviet Union says, but at least we might avoid taking up his verbal cues. If we do the kind of things we're capable of, we should beat the daylight out of Russia in any sane competition. Let's say that—in our own way. The only burying should be accorded Khrushchev's gloomy talk.

Rockefeller Boosted By New York GOP

NEW YORK — New York legislative leaders gave Nelson Rockefeller a significant boost for the GOP nomination for Governor this week.

They did it by electing him chairman of a new legislative committee that will work to modernize and simplify the state constitution. It will keep him in the public eye and also furnish him an appealing issue for the election campaign against Gov. Averell Harriman.

Leonard Hall, formerly Republican National Chairman, is still in the race and apparently more popular with New York City leaders than Rockefeller. But two up-staters also regarded as aspirants for the nomination — Senator Walter J. Mahoney and Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck — were the key figures in what amounts to tentative approval of the Rockefeller bid.

TO DATE Rockefeller declines to label himself a candidate. He seems not yet convinced that his name does not negate his political appeal, though most observers feel the present family record of social and civic service has erased all the unhappy aspects of the Rockefeller past.

He has never run for elective

Housing Bill Puts Focus On Interest

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Suspensions of the new emergency housing legislation was passed more for the benefit of the home building industry than for prospective home buyers is causing considerable sharp-pencil figuring.

The principal gripe is that the interest rate on Veterans Administration GI home loans was raised from 4.5 to 4.75 per cent. On a 30-year, $15,000 mortgage, this means that the veteran buying a new home will pay $810 more in interest than he would have under the former rates.

In terms of payments, it means that the vet will have to shell out $78.30 a month instead of $76.05.

TO GIVE THE GI home buyer a compensating break for this extra cost, the new law authorizes VA housing loans with no down payment. This provision is supposed to lure more prospective home owners into the market.

It will save the buyer cash at the start. But it means that he will have to borrow more money, and he'll have to pay back more in principal and interest later on.

The advice given to GI home owners, therefore, is to fork over as much as they can in down payments, even though no cash in advance is required by law.

ON FEDERAL Housing Administration — FHA loans — down payments have not been abolished, but have been reduced.

For example, on a new house costing $15,750, the down payment now required is $743 instead of the former $1,153 — a $410 reduction — with a $15,000 mortgage.

The FHA interest rate is unchanged — 5.25 per cent.

General interest rates have been going down since the new housing legislation was considered and passed by Congress, however.

If this trend continues there is some prospect that the FHA interest rate can be reduced. And if the FHA rate goes down, the GI home loan interest rate will go one-half per cent below the FHA rate, as provided by law.

This creates a buyers' market and a borrowers' market. People can shop around for the best possible terms.

EASING money terms have also made things better for prospective home owners on mortgage loan discounts.

These are the premiums which mortgage lenders charge when money is scarce. Since interest rates on government-guaranteed FHA and GI loans are set by law, money lenders have in the past been able to get the equivalent of a higher interest rate by discounting the principal they loaned, or charging the borrower an extra fee for it.

For example, on a $15,000 mortgage loan, the average two per cent discount would cost $300. On VA loans, this discount can't be passed on to the buyer. But on FHA loans the discount can be added to the cost of the house.

Discount rates are now running from zero in the East, where money is more plentiful, to three per cent in the West. Discounts in the West have been as high as 12 per cent.

office and would be the first member of his family to do so.

To that extent, Republicans would be flying blind if they nominate him.

They will be risking the effect of his name. They do not know if Nelson Rockefeller has a real gift for the hustings which are so utterly different from the sheltered area of his life to date.

They would expect Gov. Harriman — so obviously an available candidate for President in 1960 — to spare nothing in his own effort to run up an impressive election plurality for his effect in the Democratic national convention.

SOME CYNICS express the view that Republicans are willing to let Rockefeller "take the fall" using his own money, since the trend is Democratic anyway. Others just as stoutly maintain that only a good government candidate like Rockefeller can win and that his youth and vigor — he will be 50 in July — would count heavily against Harriman, who will be 67 next November.

Democrats seem to be no further along in their quest for the best candidate against United States Senator Irving Ives, Republican incumbent. Ives has often been ill and is not too effective in Washington, but he has that valuable intangible, a good name in the state.

Many people believe that with its usual lack of imagination, Tammany will draft Mayor Robert F. Wagner for the race as he is a proved vote-getter and will satisfy the organization leaders of the city.

WHAT IS NEW on the Democratic grapevine is talk of an informal alliance between Govs. Harriman and Mennen Williams of Michigan with the aim of keeping the party nationally well to the left of Vice President Nixon. If re-elected this fall, both Governors should be strongly in control of their state delegations at the 1960 convention.

This report suggests, too, that Harriman will remain only available but that Williams will set the 1960 pace in the state nominating primaries, including California. It seems improbable that Williams, a skillful politician, would make any firm plan about that until next November shows what Democratic favorite sons must be tactfully handled in all pre-convention maneuverings.

But there is no doubt that Harriman and Williams see eye to eye on most elements of modern Democracy in the party sense.

WASHINGTON — If President Eisenhower gives the word in the next few days, our Air Force experts intend this fall to take a pot shot at the moon.

They said this wouldn't cost much—only between $16,000,000 and $20,000,000. There's only one problem: The moon travels in a number of directions at once, and even if it stood still, it is a small target, except possibly on a night in June.

If our fellows do manage to knock a new crater in the moon, they won't know about it until the light gets back to their telescopes, but this is a mere matter of minutes.

THE PROSPECTS of blasting a hole in the moon came up at the House Appropriations Committee hearings, where Representative George H. Mahon, the head money man, said he didn't suppose there was any virtue in hitting the moon but that he did believe we ought to beat the Russians to it.

Richard E. Horner, Assistant Secretary of the Air Force in charge of research and development, said the moon was no easy target to hit and he's not even thinking now of landing any intrepid moonmen on it.

He said he already had the hardware that could get a chunk of ironmongery to the moon for a hard landing.

A SOFT landing of a space ship, from which men could walk out as in the comic books, he said, would take more power than now is available. This extra power would be necessary for slowing down the ship enough to keep it from crumbling.

Horner said if he hit the moon on the near, or bright, side, it would be simple enough to see the explosion via telescope. If he punctured it on the far, or dark, side, he couldn't see anything

NEW BRIDGE OPENS—The Henderson Boulevard bridge has been opened for traffic over the B&O tracks in the North End. The first vehicle to cross was a load of hay on a truck. It is proposed to have a formal opening of the boulevard in the next few days.

The markers will be mounted on framework on the front and back of the vehicles.

MARKET TO OPEN — The first homemakers market in Allegany County will be opened Saturday at the State Armory here, with 20 members of homemakers clubs as sellers. Nothing will be sold except what is grown or made in county homes. The market will open at 8:30 a. m. and remain open until all produce is sold.

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK — As everybody knows between Times Square and San Francisco, New Yorkers have turned out by the thousands to see the extraordinary Moiseyev dancers from Moscow. We sent them Van Cliburn from Texas and they sent us the dancers. He bowled over the people in Moscow and they have bowled over the people in New York.

And what do you think bowled over the dancers? I can tell you. I was there—"West Side Story."

A lady who shall be nameless telephoned the other noon and said: "If you bring me 'The Immortal' to read, I'll let you in on a story. At least it ought to be a story. The Moiseyev girls, 32 of them, are seeing our matinee this afternoon. Come backstage and you can peek out and get their reactions."

THE PRICE was right. I took 'The Immortal' over to the stage manager and she found me a narrow, darkened vantage point where I'd be out of the way of the kids going on and off stage for "West Side Story" and could watch the girls from Moscow. They were in a box, three boxes actually.

It was just curtain-time when they filed in, in white, most of them, with a sprig of flowers at their sashes. At least they looked like sashes. Maybe they were decorations (female department) of the Order of Lenin.

In any case, they were not red. They were baby blue. The girls, the lot of them, were good-looking youngsters, likely built and with faces fit to charm. And they didn't have the habitual ballerina duck-walk. They walked straight and naturally.

THEY WATCHED the opening ballet of the two opposing juvenile gangs with fascination, their eyes never off the scene, never once sweeping the audience. They often smiled, an approving smile. Once or twice their faces lit up with enthusiasm and high color at some especially difficult and gracefully accomplished figure. When the scene ended, they beat their pretty palms hard and long.

The meeting of the two young lovers, a sort of Romeo and Juliet meeting, followed by the famed balcony scene on a tenement fire escape, not only enchanted the Russian girls but drew rounds of applause from them. When Larry Kert and Carol Lawrence went into the "Tonight" number in the balcony scene, they almost jumped out of the boxes. Thereafter, they followed the scenes as they tumbled on and off, alert, fascinated, rapt. When intermission came and the house lights went up, they ignored the audience looking at them and talked animatedly among themselves. Later, I cornered an usher in that sector and asked if she had heard anything they had said about the show.

"GEE, HONEY, I hear them," she said, "but I don't speak Russian. I gathered that they just loved it. You can tell? When a troupe of girls all talk at once and smile and sort of seem to be confirming what each one is saying, you can put it down: they loved it. A lady nearby said that one was saying: 'It's quite Russian in its starkness and honest approach. But I can't testify. I don't know one word of Russian.'"

THE SECOND act came on and the Russian girls silenced their animated, happy chatter and returned to being rapt.

When the dream came, in which the company dances an idealistic sort of tenement paradise where they leaned forward and looked almost without blinking. It stunned them. It held them from beginning to end.

The only other number which so completely enthralled them, as though seeing something they never had seen like it, was the scene in which the Puerto Rican girls sing the joys of living in Manhattan.

If any of the Russian girls knew what the lyrics were about, they didn't show it. But they gave the fast, rhythmic song and its swaying dances their complete, absorbed attention.

THE FINAL scene came, with the killing of the boy and the merging, in grief and chastened violence of the two gangs as they bear him away together. The Russian girls had tears in their eyes and, as the huge curtain slowly came down, they burst into salvos of applause. They had, obviously, seen an American musical show that hypnotized and ignited them at the same time.

For their purposes and for matching with their dance standards, they could not have chosen a better show on Broadway. They waited until most of the audience filed out and then rising together, left the theatre.

NEW YORK — You may think there's something wrong with your neighbor's head but the chances are much greater there's something wrong with his feet.

"Nine out of 10 American adults have foot trouble, but most don't do anything about it," said Dr. Joseph Lelyveld of Rockland, Mass.

"And American children have more foot defects now than a generation ago."

"Today 85 per cent of our girls and 65 per cent of our boys have foot defects by the time they leave high schools."

This disturbs Lelyveld, a podiatrist renowned as the founder of the National Foot Health Council and inventor of the phrase athlete's foot.

"All but about 15 per cent of adult foot defects are unnecessary," he observed. "They could have been prevented in childhood."

LELYVELD, who helped design shoes for the Dionne quintuplets and has advised European royalty on pedal problems, has a mind full of odd historical footnotes.

"Napoleon had bad feet," he said. "Hitler had such terrible feet some psychiatrists think they may have been a factor behind some of his atrocities."

"Abraham Lincoln had trouble with his feet—they were flat and distorted. He had his own foot doctor and custom-made shoes. Woodrow Wilson wore custom-made shoes, too."

Contrary to popular opinion, policemen and postmen don't suffer most from foot troubles.

"They know how important their feet are to them, so they take better care of them," said Lelyveld. "Occupationally speaking, barbers and housewives have the worst feet."

"Housewives have a bad habit of running about the house barefoot, or doing their chores in runover old dress shoes."

"For housework she should wear a stout laced oxford with a heel not above one and a half inches high. School children should wear fewer sneakers or moccasin type footwear. The Indians did wear moccasins—but they didn't walk on concrete."

"Loafers are all right for a man—if he's really sitting down loafing. But they aren't suitable if he's doing heavy work around the house."

Lelyveld believes most of man's foot trouble stems from improper care of the feet, lack of exercise, and man's erect posture.

"He has never really got used to standing upright," he said. "The older we get the smaller our blood vessels get and the poorer our circulation."

"The tired businessman would feel better if he walked three to five miles a day. But he should wear sturdy leather shoes, and he should wear socks at least half an inch longer than his longest toe—not stretch socks, which cramp his feet."

"I wear moccasinized socks with white soles myself because they absorb perspiration better."

What if your feet get tired, Doc? "No matter what your boss thinks," Lelyveld said firmly, "the best way to rest your feet is to put them on a desk for four or ten minutes."

WASHINGTON — Senator Thomas H. Kuchel, of California, thinks he has come across a sure-fire omen that statehood for Alaska and Hawaii is going through this year. He has learned that the Capitol cabinet-makers are quietly making desks for four new Senators.

Senator Kuchel, one of the fighting proponents of statehood for the two territories, happened to be down in the Capitol basement where the Senators can have television and movie shorts concocted for the edification of their constituents. The solon was talking to Bob Coar, the eminent director of this little-publicized studio, when the chief cabinet-maker came in and asked Mr. Coar if he might borrow one of his principal props.

"You have a replica of a Senate desk," said the head carpenter. "I understand that when a Senator comes in here to be photographed you sit him in it so it looks as if he was at work on the Senate floor."

"That is supposed to be a professional secret," interrupted Mr. Coar, "but why do you wish to borrow it?"

"I need it for a model," said the cabinetmaker. "There are to be two new Senators from Alaska and two from Hawaii and we must get ready for them."

"I appreciate that," said Mr. Coar, "but there are 96 such desks on the Senate floor, and I have only this one. Why don't you—?"

The cabinet-maker was obviously on the point of explaining, but he took another look at the man with Coar and apparently recognized him as Senator Kuchel. He muttered that it wasn't "practical" and hurried off.

"I THINK I KNOW what's troubling him," chuckled Senator Kuchel. "He couldn't remove a desk from the Senate floor because it would leave one of us without a place to sit. And it wouldn't be considered in keeping with the decorum of the nation's highest lawmaking body to do the desk-making in the Senate chamber."

"You mean it might interrupt the Senators at their legislating?" suggested Director Coar.

"Not entirely," said the junior Senator from California. "There are times when Senators would welcome the presence of any living thing in the Senate chamber, even carpenters hammering out desks. Senators get so tired of orating in solitude. But a visitor might behold the spectacle and lose some of his awe. We couldn't afford that."

The new desks are being made in the cabinet shop, from the television prop. Now all that remains to be done is to pass the law that will fill them.

DURING A symposium sponsored by the Naval Medical School, in Bethesda, Md., Capt. A. R. Behnke of the Navy's radiological defense laboratory, proposed that radiation shock troops be composed of middle-aged men.

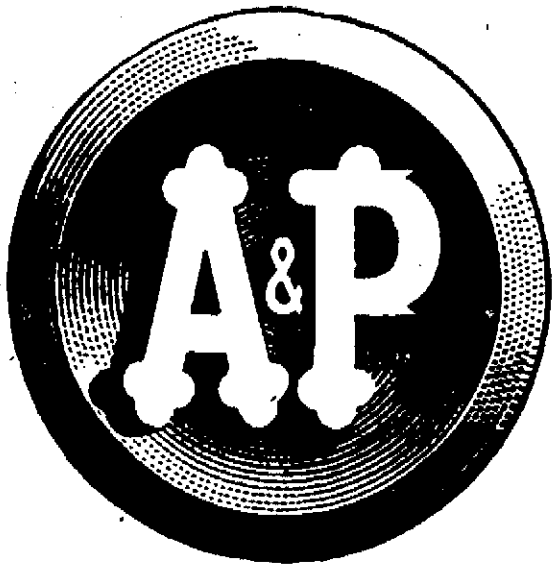

Capt. Behnke asserted that men in their 40's and 50's should be used to rush into areas contaminated by fallout after an atom-bomb attack to rebuild roads, re-establish communications, etc. He explained why. His explanation may be logical, but I doubt if it's going to appeal to too many middle-aged men.

Miner Cited For Saving Mates' Lives

Woodrow Evans One Of 11 Men In U. S. To Get Holmes Medal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Woodrow Evans of Amonate, Va., whose cool courage and judgment in a mine explosion was credited with saving the lives of 13 fellow miners, was cited for his bravery today.

Evans was one of 11 men in the nation's mineral industries awarded medals of honor by the Joseph A. Holmes Safety Assn. for heroic action in saving the lives of other persons.

Announcement of the awards was made by Marling J. Ankeny, director of the Bureau of Mines and president of the association.

The 13 men whose lives Evans was credited with saving were among 20 men who were voted group citations by the association.

Evans' act came late last December during an explosion which killed 11 men in the No. 31 mine of the Pocahontas Fuel Co., on the Virginia-West Virginia border.

The 44-year-old Evans was cited for "prompt action and good judgment in advance of impending danger" in leading his crew to a remote section of the mine and having the area barricaded for protection against dangerous "after damp." Evans is a section foreman at the mine.

The men in Evans' group, all Virginia residents, received an award for "exceptional courage, skill, and good judgment displayed under the leadership of the section foreman in constructing the life-saving barricades."

Firing Cause Laid To NAACP Status

DOVER, Del. (AP) — A professor at the all-Negro Delaware State College says he was fired solely because of his membership in the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Dr. George Kent, a Negro, had been a professor at the college for four years and was head of the English department.

Those on the 10-member board of trustees who were opposed to Kent indicated his association with NAACP made it difficult for the college to get appropriations from the Legislature.

This new-type concrete road is smooth, quiet and comfortable

Drive it on America's newest highways!

New-type, sound-conditioned
concrete will be fun to drive for 50 years

Not a "hump" to be heard on this continuous-laid concrete. It's almost like riding above the pavement, instead of on it. Sound-conditioned concrete has no joints. . . only tiny, sawed cushion spaces. You skim over them and don't know it! "Air-entrainment" prevents surface roughening, keeps concrete smooth. Laid flat, this concrete stays flat and will last 50 years and more.

Only concrete can be engineered to match expected traffic loads. It's the preferred pavement for the new Interstate System and all major highways.

Built-in safety

The grainy texture of new-type concrete resists skids even when wet. No unevenness, no "fighting the wheel." It reflects light, too. You see up to 4 times better at night on light-colored concrete than on a dark surface.

Parsons Stock
Hearing Held

CHARLESTON—Hearing was completed late Monday before Agriculture Commissioner John T. Johnson on a hotly contested application for authority to operate a livestock yard at Parsons.

The applicant is Carl E. Nestor of Montrose, who proposes to do business as Tucker County Stockyards.

The application was opposed at the hearing by two other stockyards operating in that area of the state. The protesters were Evans Stockyards Inc. of Elkins, operated by Charles Conway, and E.S. Evans Stockyards of Terra Alta, operated by E.E. Peters Jr.

The applicant and protesters will file briefs in about two months after they have received transcripts of testimony at the one-day hearing. A decision on the application probably will not be handed down for about three months.

Rain Hampers Spring Plowing, Planting In State

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Spring plowing and planting in Maryland and Delaware again was hampered by rain last week. Crop reporters said today the unwanted precipitation left Delmar Peninsula and Southern Maryland soil "wet," while ground in central and Western Maryland reverted back to the "soggy" state which has curtailed work for weeks. The weekly report said very little corn has been planted and little more than one-third of the corn land had been plowed by the end of last week. At the same time a year ago, farmers had finished almost two-thirds of the plowing.

Pastures Still Short
Continuing in the pessimistic vein, the report said the acreage for peas and commercial Irish potatoes in Delaware and Maryland's Eastern Shore likely will fall short of previous estimates. Planting of potatoes is continuing in the area, while pea planting in north central Maryland is expected to continue until about May 7 if the weather permits.

During a few breaks in the weather last week, farmers planted both oats and green peas. Seedlings of both crops were about 75 per cent complete by the end of the week and total acreage is expected to fall short of intentions. Earliest planted oats are up and doing well, while hay fields are showing good growth and many cattle are now on pasture. Some fields of clover mixtures in Central Delaware, however, are showing severe winter kill.

Plant Pests At Work
Rye is generally furnishing good pasture and is heading on the Eastern Shore. In Southern Maryland, tobacco plants are coming up nicely in the plant beds.

The cutting of asparagus started on the Eastern Shore last week and was expected to get under way in Delaware this week. In the southern part of the Shore, tomato planting has started, following about a week of work on snap beans, cucumbers, watermelons and cantaloupes.

Depending on location and variety, full bloom on peaches varied between April 21 and April 26, with early bloomers in petal-fall stage by the end of the week. By this weekend or early next week, apples in the commercial area are expected to be in bloom.

Plant pests are beginning to make their annual appearance. Spray operations have begun for alfalfa weevil larvae and pea aphid, especially on the peninsula, and for spittlebug eggs which are hatching on clover in the Middletown area of Delaware.

Firemen Set First Annual Fund Appeal

FLINTSTONE—The Flintstone Volunteer Fire Company will launch its first annual financial drive tomorrow, the proceeds of which will be used towards the purchase of a new fire truck.

The fire company was organized in 1943, and the apparatus in service at present was purchased the following year, according to Lawrence Smith, president. The company also maintains an ambulance as a service to the residents of the Flintstone area, Smith added.

A coin card system will be used in the financial campaign, it was explained, and residents of the area will be asked to place a coin in the card slots each week for a two-month period. The cards, Smith said, will be collected during the first week in July.

Smith is general chairman of the campaign and he has appointed eight teams to assist in the distribution of the coin cards. The entire eastern portion of Allegany County will be canvassed, as well as adjacent Pennsylvania communities that are serviced by the Flintstone company.

Areas, and the solicitors, include: Flintstone — Lawrence Kyle, Paul Oster and Kermit McCarty; Chaneysville — Junior Morral and Floyd Ruby; Gilpinville — Smith and Harry Bender; Murley's Branch — Eston Heavner, Eugene Kisamore and Ralph Mullenax.

Town Creek — Ralph Yonker and Harry Shipley; Route 40 east, including Little Orleans — Ernest Huffman and Merle Hinkle; Artois and Inglesmith — Cleland Helmick, and Route 40 west, including Flintstone Creek and Hook's Corner — Leslie Wigfield, Ernest Huffman and Cleland Helmick.

West Virginia Man Seeking Elk, Bison

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — The McDowell County man spoke right up in his letter to the State Conservation Department: "Please send me an elk. If you don't have any more elks to give away, send me a bison. I will stand the crating and shipping cost."

The bison is extinct in West Virginia and the department said it had no elk to sell or give away. A spokesman theorized the man must have read about some Western state, where the animals are sold or given away to reduce their numbers on grazing land.

Attorney Selected FSTC Commencement Speaker

FROSTBURG — Robert W. Jones, chairman of the baccalaureate-commencement committee of Frostburg State Teachers College, today announced that William S. Livengood Jr. of Harrisonburg, Pa., will speak at the 55th annual commencement exercises at the college Friday, June 6, at 2 p. m. in Compton Hall.

Livengood, son of a country newspaper publisher, was born in Salisbury, Somerset County, Pa. One of nine children, he is descended from pioneers who first settled in that county where he has lived most of his life.

He has been a school teacher, an athletic coach and is now an attorney.

As a businessman, Livengood is a director and active in the management of the Somerset Door and Column Company. He also is a director in several large Pittsburgh companies. In these capacities, and as a counsel to many business organizations, he knows the problems of the little and the big businessmen. He is familiar with the problems of meeting payrolls, financing inventories and paying burdensome taxes under which all business labors.

Livengood has broad experience in state and national government. His public service career is outstanding for the ability and integrity he brought to every public duty, starting with his first office when he became registrar of wills and clerk of the Orphans' Court in Somerset County. In 1933 he was elected Pennsylvania's Secretary of Internal Affairs and was reelected in 1942, 1946 and 1950, the only man in Pennsylvania's long history to be so honored.

As Secretary of Internal Affairs, he served on the State Board of Pardons, the State Highway and Bridge Authority, the State Board of Property, and was secretary of the General State Authority. He now is serving as county solicitor in the Somerset area.

Livengood was educated in the public schools and colleges of Pennsylvania. He holds degrees of Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Laws and the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws. He is a member of the Masonic fraternity, American Legion, Forty and Eight, Sons of the American Revolution, Elks, Odd Fellows, Eagles, Moose, Pennsylvania German Society, Union League of Philadelphia, Pittsburgh Athletic Association, Corpus Juris and the National Judicature Society. He is a member of Church of the Brethren and has taught a Sunday School class for 40 years.

As an active, practicing attorney he is a member of the law firm of Livengood, Braucher and Stroup in Harrisburg. He has been married nearly 38 years to the former Martha Cupp. The

Ike Speaks For Law Observance

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower, commemorating the nation's first Law Day observance, said today the world must choose law over force if civilization is to survive.

Eisenhower said the rule of law is moving in the direction of displacing force in relations among sovereign countries, but he added: "What we need now is universal will to accept peaceful settlements of disputes in a framework of law..."

"In a very real sense, the world no longer has a choice between force and law. If civilization is to survive, it must choose the rule of law."

List Features Of Annapolis Tour Program

One of the many features of the guided walking tour being conducted in Annapolis is the Annapolis regulator clock, a gift of Historic Annapolis, Inc. The clock was a gift of the Claude family.

According to Claude family tradition, Abram Claude, a clock-maker and silversmith from Neuchâtel, Switzerland, opened his shop on West Street in 1772. This primitive clock was used by Claude to regulate the clocks and watches he made. The face of this heirloom is elaborately decorated with sea shells. The original color of the clock's cabinet has been restored to the original blue. It is displayed in the Maryland Hall of Records on the campus of St. John's College, and can be seen in connection with the tour.

These tours are varied to meet the different requirements of the visitor. One, a leisurely two and one-half hours, is of the numerous colonial landmarks of the old city and includes a visit to the Naval Academy, and the Chase-Lloyd House, built in 1770 by Samuel Chase, signer of the Declaration of Independence. In the music room of the Chase House, Francis Scott Key was married to Mary Taylor Lloyd, sister of a later governor of Maryland. Also in the tour is the Hammond-Harwood House, built in 1774, and the finest example of Georgian architecture in America. Still another impressive Georgian mansion is the Brice House, recently opened to the public.

Among other historic landmarks to be visited is the State House, the oldest state capitol in America which has remained in continuous legislative use. On December 23, 1783 George Washington resigned his commission as commander-in-chief of the Continental Army there. Three weeks later the treaty of peace with Great Britain was ratified there. Another building on the grounds is the Old Treasury Building, built in 1732—the oldest public building in Maryland.

Briefer tours are available: a two-hour tour includes admission to Hammond-Harwood House and Chase-Lloyd House; or the one and one-quarter hour tour, including the Chase-Lloyd House. Special tours have been arranged for Wednesday and Saturday afternoons, leaving headquarters at 1:30. These tours will include a showing of one or two small city gardens. The Wednesday tours will conclude at the Naval Academy in time for the weekly dress parade of the brigade of midshipmen on Worden Field at 3:30 p. m.

You Don't Worship God Alone

One of the old favorite hymns starts out "We Gather Together . . ."

To us who belong to the Episcopal Church the thought of gathering together to worship God is one of the most important things in our religious life. We gather together to worship God in a body.

You see, in the Episcopal Church, the services you attend whether Morning Prayer, Evening Prayer or the Service of Holy Communion, are centered in the worship of God. You say, "That's true of any church," and that's right but in an entirely different degree. Sure, we have a sermon in most of our services, and we believe that "preaching the word" is most essential. But, the service is not "preaching centered". It's centered around the worship of God.

And we all take part in the services which are contained in our beloved Book of Common Prayer—we refer to it as corporate worship. Wouldn't you like to join us? We assure you of this much—you'll leave feeling you've really been in church.

Join us soon in the Episcopal Church near you.

Zone Hearing Scheduled In LaVale Hall

Proposed Rules Up For Discussion By Area Residents

A public hearing will be held today at 8 p. m. in the LaVale Fire Hall on proposed zoning regulations for District 29.

The LaVale Zoning Board has advertised the meeting for the past two weeks under the 1957 law that set up the board.

The board has completed its set of regulations and zones for discussion by the residents of that district.

John J. Rowan, Leslie J. Clark and C. A. Lancaster, the board members, have worked since last summer in preparing the proposed rules.

Rowan, chairman, said the purpose of the hearing will be to get the views of the residents of the district on the zoning body's proposals.

A map of the four zones as proposed by the board has been on display in the LaVale Fire Hall for the past two weeks.

The four zones proposed include residential, rural residential, Commercial A and Commercial B. Only the lightest industries would be allowed in one zone in the area, which is now predominately industrial in nature, the board explained today.

Zoning of the district came about through the efforts of the LaVale Civic Improvement Association as a method of regulating future growth of the county's fastest development area.

Town Slates Name Check On Petition

Signatures on a petition for a referendum on a proposed amendment to the charter of the Town of Westernport will be checked this evening, according to Mayor Okey L. Michael.

The petition, carrying 500 names, was filed Monday and calls for a referendum on an amendment, adopted unanimously by the Town Council, that would enable the town to participate in the waste treatment program planned for that area.

The names on the petitions will be checked against the town registration list by a committee composed of Horace P. Whitworth Sr., town attorney; Louis A. Fakin, attorney representing the petitioners; and Mrs. Katherine Dailey, city clerk.

Signatures of 20 per cent of the town's 1,150 registered voters are required to force a referendum, Mayor Michaels explaining that should it be necessary the vote will take place at the biennial town election on May 27.

The Mayor and Council will meet at 9 p. m. today to act on the findings of the checking committee.

The charter change is necessary, Mayor Michaels said, if the town is to participate in the use of the waste treatment facilities to be built at Luke by the Upper Potomac River Commission.

Frost Warning Issued For Western Maryland

A frost warning for the valleys of Washington, Allegany and Garrett Counties was issued for tomorrow morning by the Baltimore office of the Weather Bureau.

Peaches and apples blossoms and buds are in vulnerable condition and orchardists are keeping their fingers crossed.

The forecast is for fair and quite cool tonight with scattered frost, especially in valley locations. The lowest temperature is to be between 30 and 36 degrees.

Tomorrow's weather will be similar to that experienced today, fair and cool.

West Virginia Change Made On River Unit

CHARLESTON (P)—Gov. Underwood today replaced West Virginia's two appointive members of the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin in a move he said was intended to obtain more active participation by this state's representatives.

Effective tomorrow, Underwood appointed Charles V. Bush, Berkeley Springs Republican, and Sam R. Pancake, Romney Democrat, to the commission.

Bush replaces John S. Rockwell, Romney Democrat, for the unexpired term ending March 26, 1959. Pancake replaces Republican John I. Rogers, of Keyser, for the unexpired term ending March 26, 1962.

Bush, 30, is an attorney. Pancake, 58, is a farmer and associate owner and operator of a truck and implement business and an automobile agency.

Underwood said, "I have received extensive complaints that our members of the commission have not been active and that on many occasions when the commission met no one was there to speak for West Virginia."

He said that changes were an effort to place on the commission from this state persons who have expressed a willingness to participate actively.

Sales Prize Awarded To Local Woman

Mrs. Helen Buchholtz, wife of City Commissioner William H. Buchholtz, won the Hillman Minx four-door sedan which was the grand prize offered by the Cumberland Retail Merchants Association as the feature of the two-day sales event last week known as Queen City Days.

Frank Martin, chairman of the association's program, drew the winning coupon. Mayor Roy W. Eves and John R. Wilkinson, advertising manager of the Times-News papers, were present as judges of the drawing.

Others present were William Seasholtz, manager of Sears Roebuck, and B. D. Freedman, merchandise manager of Rosenbaum's, who are co-chairmen of the committee; and Robert Little Ebert, of the S. T. Little Company and secretary-treasurer of the association.

The association reports the two-day sales event was a big success and business last Saturday on the final day was "terrific."

Martin explained that 32 merchants cooperated and that coupons which were carried in their ads in the Times-News papers were placed in boxes at each store by customers. From each of the boxes a coupon was drawn and the 32 coupons were then placed in one container for the grand drawing.

The enthusiasm of the customers during the sales event was cited by Martin. He said an estimated 250,000 to 275,000 coupons were dropped in boxes at the 32 stores.

Many customers were drawn to Cumberland from the tri-state area and various stores report patrons came here from as far away as Petersburg and Franklin in the South Branch Valley, from Thomas and Davis in the mountains southwest of here and also from nearby Pennsylvania points such as Meyersdale, Berlin, Somerset and Bedford.

Over 1,000 Seniors To End School Careers In June

Approximately 1,075 seniors in Allegany County public and parochial high schools are candidates for graduation this year.

This total compares with 1,049 members in 1957 graduating classes.

Commencement exercises with the total eligible for diplomas have been announced by the respective principals and Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster.

Dates Selected

Webster said graduation programs will be held on Tuesday, June 3, at Oldtown, Bruce, Mt. Savage and Fort Hill high schools.

Mt. Savage has 63 eligible for diplomas, the same number as received there last year.

Fort Hill will graduate the largest class in the history of that school and this county, 304, high previously was last year's 277.

Oldtown's total of 20 graduates will exceed the 1957 class by six. Bruce High has 86 seniors as compared to 73 last year.

On Wednesday, June 4, exercises will be held at Allegany, Valley, Beall and Flintstone. AHS's class roster this year is 227 as compared to 218 in 1957.

Valley's graduates total 102. Diplomas were given to 95 at that school last June.

Flintstone has 23 eligible, the same as last year.

Parochial Plans

Sunday, June 1, has been selected as graduation date for LaSalle, Catholic Girls Central, and St. Mary's High schools of Cumberland and St. Peter's High School, Westernport.

Ursuline Academy will be the first with exercises planned on Thursday, May 29.

LaSalle has 58 seniors eligible for diplomas, three more than last year.

Catholic Girls Central has a class of 16 as compared to 25 in 1957.

St. Mary's 14-member senior class is two larger than last year's.

St. Peter's has 18 graduates, an increase of seven over 1957.

Ursuline Academy will have 25 receiving diplomas as compared to 17 last year.

Mapleside Playground Association will meet tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in Mapleside Methodist Church.

Youth Found Not Guilty In Stab Death

Mineral County Jury Deliberates About Four Hours

Joseph E. Paugh, 17, of Elk Garden, was found not guilty of murder yesterday afternoon in Mineral County Court at Keyser by a jury. He was charged with the fatal stabbing of his father, Clarence Paugh.

The jury of seven women and five men deliberated over four hours before reaching a verdict. Judge Ernest A. See had instructed the jurors about noon and they began deliberations shortly afterward.

They decided to return to the court room for further instructions, and reached their verdict about 4:20 p. m. It was given to the court by Kenneth Matlick, Keyser grocer, who was foreman of the jury.

The frail, five-foot-two defendant, a junior at Elk Garden High School, stood almost expressionless as he heard the words which set him free.

The court room in Keyser was crowded with spectators during the two-day trial and included students of Keyser High School and Elk Garden High School.

During the trial, the defendant testified that he plunged a hunting knife into the back of his 56-year-old father during an argument between his parents, March 31.

He admitted stabbing his father to death to protect his mother from physical violence. In his closing remarks yesterday morning, Prosecuting Attorney Donald Holt pointed to the Paugh family "trouble" and said there was "no premeditation."

Defense Attorney Howard Shores agreed with Holt's remarks and added the elder Paugh had a heart condition. No autopsy was performed to ascertain the exact cause of death, he stressed.

Judge See said the jurors could return any of these verdicts: first degree murder; second degree murder; voluntary manslaughter; involuntary manslaughter, or acquittal.

Messman Rides Last Train

G. Frank Messman, 106 Independence Street, was among the 350 passengers on the B&O's Royal Blue which made its last trip from New York to Philadelphia last week.

Messman spent the week in the New York, Staten Island and Philadelphia area and was also on the Capitol Limited on its final run from Philadelphia to Baltimore. The B&O abolished passenger service between New York and Baltimore effective Saturday.

D'Alesandro Applauded At Demo Rally

Candidate Makes Specific Remarks Concerning His Foes

By The Associated Press

A morning jaunt with the opposition and an evening speech in favor of his own ticket. That was the way Comptroller J. Millard Tawes, Democratic aspirant for governor, played the game of politics Tuesday.

The gubernatorial candidate is head of the Democratic harmony ticket which includes Baltimore Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro, running for the U. S. Senate nomination.

But when Tawes toured the Westinghouse Electric Corp.'s Air Arm Division plant in Friendship, Anne Arundel County, he was with the man given the best chance against D'Alesandro — Baltimore County contractor George P. Mahoney.

Accepted Earlier

Shepherding the pair through the plant for almost two hours was C. Bowie Rose, one leader of an Anne Arundel group that has endorsed Tawes and two of his running mates while snubbing D'Alesandro in favor of Mahoney.

At harmony headquarters in Baltimore, a spokesman said Tawes had accepted the invitation for the tour before D'Alesandro switched from the gubernatorial primary to the U. S. Senate race.

Tawes himself shrugged off inquiries about his appearance with Mahoney. "Please don't ask me any questions," he told a newsman.

D'Alesandro was not immediately available for comment. But Rose later discounted any political implications in Tawes' tour with Mahoney.

Later in the day, Tawes had lunch with D'Alesandro before and their running mates — Atty. Gen. C. Ferdinand Sybert for re-nomination and Senate President Louis L. Goldstein for comptroller — went on a handshaking tour of Frederick County.

Man With Experience

Last night, long after the Mahoney-Tawes appearance, "practical politics" was mentioned prominently in a Tawes speech at Hurlock in Dorchester County. D'Alesandro was selected for the harmony ticket, he said, because the state needed a candidate from Baltimore City who was a winner and a man with experience.

D'Alesandro himself made what was perhaps his fiercest speech in Annapolis last night to a foot-stomping rally of about 150 Democrats.

"They're going to get the shellacking of their life on May 20," he said, in reference to his major opponents — Mahoney, James Bruce of Carroll County and Johns Hopkins University professor Clarence D. Long.

With respective references to Mahoney, Bruce and Long, the Mayor told the crowd: "Who do you want representing the Democratic Party in November? A racing commissioner who watched them jab needles into horses; a banker who ran off to New York when his bank went kerflooey; a professor who runs by the book; or do you want a two-fisted hard-fighting senator?"

Much Applause

At the rally sponsored by the Anne Arundel Democratic organization headed by Ralph L. Lowman, D'Alesandro was interrupted frequently by applause. He got down to cases on all three of his major opponents.

Mahoney—"The last time he ran he lost his precinct and county by a 24,000 majority. Do you call that vote-getting?"

Bruce—"His election would give New York three senators. He'd probably even forget to get off the train from Washington and go to New York."

Long—"The college professor wants to start at the top. He keeps challenging me to debates. He wants to put on a burlesque show and the papers eat it up. I predict that the doc won't get a single unit vote out of the 152."

Elsewhere on the campaign trail, Bruce headed into Talbot County today with former Gov. W. Preston Lane Jr. of Hagerstown after hitting Wicomico yesterday.

Lane, arriving by plane, told Wicomico Democrats he is backing the former ambassador to the Argentine because of "his qualification and experience."

The former governor said independent Democrats "somehow seem to have lost confidence" in the party and have become "a little disgusted at the way we have conducted ourselves." He predicted a quick end to the "so-called political leaders who try to arrange this or that."

Long visited Bruce's home county of Carroll while his headquarters issued a statement that strong unions are needed but they also need certain restrictions.

County Teacher Election Today

The Allegany County Teacher Association will elect officers today at 7:30 p. m. in Fort Hill High School Auditorium.

Candidates for president are Miss Mary E. Murray, social studies teacher at Allegany High School, and Jack A. Petry, principal of Valley High School.

The legislative committee will report on the May 20 state primary election.

Tim Tam, Silky Sullivan 5-2 Derby Co-Favorites

Field Of 19 Likely For Saturday's Great Race

By ORLO ROBERTSON
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The steadily improving Tim Tam and the sensational stretch runner Silky Sullivan were quoted as co-favorites at 5-2 today as the second richest Kentucky Derby in history loomed with 19 finely tuned 3-year-olds listed as probable starters.

As of now, the largest field since Count Turf turned back 19 rivals in 1951 is in prospect. Based on a field of 19, the 84th running of America's most glamorous turf classic will gross $167,500, a figure exceeded only by the $167,550 of 1956, when Needles took home the major share of the purse.

Track Could Be Fast
The track condition will have a large say on how many parade to the post for the 4:30 p.m. start at Churchill Downs.

After days of rain, the weatherman today forecast somewhat cooler temperatures and a drying wind. With no more rain the track for the 1 1/4 mile race could be fast by Saturday.

A crowd of 100,000 is expected. Three horses commanded major attention today as the vanguard of the festive-minded crowd moved into this Ohio River city.

They are Tim Tam, a royally bred son of Tom Fool from the fabulous Calumet Farm of Mrs. G. M. Edwards; Silky Sullivan, the flaming California chestnut who has caught the fancy of the public as few horses have since Man O'War; and Jewel's Reward, champion money winning 2-year-old of 1957 who heads the three-horse entry from Mrs. Elizabeth N. Graham's Maine Chance Farm.

Ebony Pearl Second

Tim Tam, winner of only $275 last year but victorious in the $100,000 Flamingo and Florida Derby this year, won the Trial Stakes Tuesday under 23-year-old Ismael Valenzuela.

The Texas-born Mexican was called on to ride the Calumet ace after Bill Hartack broke a leg last Saturday.

Ebony Pearl, considered third best of Maine Chance's three-horse entry, was second by a neck and C. V. Whitney's Flamingo was third, another 14 lengths back as Tim Tam negotiated the muddy trip in 1:39 3/5.

Coliseum Not As Tough As Ebbets, Says Friend

LOS ANGELES (AP)—To the modest list of pitchers not petrified by the off-kilter dimensions of Memorial Coliseum, add the name of Robert Friend of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

"I think Ebbets Field was a lot tougher place to pitch," the 27-year-old exponent of control and curveballs said Tuesday night after nearly suffocating the Dodgers with an elegant four-hitter.

It was the finest pitching performance yet seen in the brief baseball history of the Coliseum, and Friend's colleagues mounted an 11-hit drive to help him dispose of the Dodgers 7-1.

A large sampling of the nation's baseball writers has declared in an Associated Press poll that any home run records set at the Coliseum should go unrecognized because of the paltry 250 feet between home plate and the left-field foul pole. Thirty homers have been hit in the first 10 games here, more than half of them over the 42-foot-high left-field screen that has been ridiculed as another "Great Wall of China" because of its vulnerability to the Chinese homer.

But Friend, unbeaten in his first three decisions this year, suggests that the arena may not become a sacrificial altar for National League pitchers. One of his reasons: The vast proportions of right field.

"Why, look at those two balls Ruhs Walker hit out there," he said, referring to a couple of 420-foot pokes that plopped in an outfielder's glove for outs. "Both of them would have been home runs at Ebbets Field."

Monograms will be awarded members of the basketball, baseball, bowling, football and rifle teams, the cheerleaders, and members of the Glee Club and staff members of The Torch, school newspaper.

British Lass Latest Hope For Net Star

LA JOLLA, Calif. (INS)—Eleanor (Teach) Tennant, who earned her affectionate nickname from the schoolgirl tennis players she turned into champions, said today that the prospect of molding another net queen has lured her back to the tennis wars.

The 63-year-old tennis mentor underwent a delicate operation recently to correct her failing vision.

For a time it appeared the eye ailment would end Mrs. Tennant's career which over the years has fashioned the tennis destinies of such international stars as Maureen Connolly, Alice Marble and Pauline Betz.

Mrs. Tennant said her vision "has returned to normal" and "I just had to come back because I have at present a very promising young lady under my tutelage."

Taught Hollywood Stars
During the past six years Mrs. Tennant has taught tennis to the students of the exclusive Bishop School for Girls in the wealthy coastal spa of La Jolla.

Before that, she applied her teaching wizardry to improving the net and racket game of many of Hollywood's leading personalities.

A roster of her film colony pupils reads like a movie spectacular and includes the names of Clark Gable, Joan Crawford, Barbara Stanwyck, Mickey Rooney and Groucho Marx.

Mrs. Tennant's latest protege, whom she said has championship capabilities, is Margot Lord, 15-year-old daughter of a wealthy London, England, textile manufacturer.

To Make Bid This Year
While Mrs. Tennant was off the courts because of her illness she jotted down notes of her coaching technique as a guide for her pupils.

She had Miss Lord follow her remote-control instructions and combine them with an arduous training routine that included 12 to 14 sets of tennis daily.

Mrs. Tennant said her current star pupil has yet to win a major tournament but that she will make her bid for tennis stardom during the approaching summer season.

Singing her praise, Mrs. Tennant said: "I think she may be a future champion because she has a keen interest in the game and with her magnificent adaptability and coordination she will be a real contender."

And as the record shows, Mrs. Tennant has been right more than once.

East Cagers Rally To Top West, 127-120

DENVER (AP)—The East All-Stars stormed from 23 points behind Tuesday night and turned back the West All-Stars 127-120 in a National Basketball Assn. exhibition game.

The victory gave the East a 9-7 edge in the current cross-country tour. A crowd of 3,500 watched the fancy exhibition of floor play and sharpshooting.

Both teams had six players in double figures. The game's high scorer was Clyde Lovellette, the 6-9, 235-pound former Kansas University ace, who collected 27 points for the losing West team. Richie Guerin poured in 24 points for the East.

Birds, Frustrated By Rain, Face Nemesis Wynn Tonight

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles, frustrated by rain in their last two efforts to play, faced an even more stubborn foe tonight in pitcher Early Wynn of the Chicago White Sox.

Before being traded by Cleveland this season, Wynn started 14 times against the Orioles. He won every one.

The only time the Orioles have posted a decision against Wynn was Sept. 6, 1954, when he appeared in relief. Since then, he has beaten the Orioles 11 straight games.

Harshman To Pitch
The 38-year-old right-hander won his first start this season in a White Sox uniform over Detroit. He began two more games, losing to Detroit and leaving the other before it was decided.

The White Sox will be looking at the pitches of one of their former performers, Jack Harshman. He has gained two victories this season since being traded to the Orioles, one as a starter and the other in relief.

Harshman has given up only five hits and two runs in his 12 2-3 innings.

Last night's game between Chicago and Baltimore was in the third inning when rain forced a halt. Neither team had scored.

The Orioles were threatening when the rain beat them to it. Foster Castleman led off by reaching first on an error and pitcher Billy O'Dell walked. At that stage, the Orioles hadn't hit the ball out of the infield off Billy Pierce, who had won 15 of his past 18 appearances against them.

Only One Lucky Hit
The Orioles had only one lucky hit. Dick Williams, trying to check his swing in the second inning, unintentionally hit the ball and it dribbled a few feet down the third base line for a single.

The White Sox got two hits, including a double, off O'Dell in the second but couldn't score. Second baseman Billy Gardner overran Jim Rivera's high fly into right field and it dropped in for a two-bagger. But Rivera was overly ambitious and tried to make it to third. He was tagged out by Brooks Robinson on Gardner's throw.

Pierce singled and Luis Aparicio later walked, but Williams made a neat stop of Nellie Fox's sharp grounder to retire the White Sox.

The Orioles now have four games to make up because of rain postponements. Two with the New York Yankees here Sunday were washed out and one was rained out earlier in Washington.

Bill Skowron Aims To Stay A .300 Hitter

By International News Service
Bill Skowron says he wants to be one of those major leaguers who never batted under .300, and he may make it now that he's learned how to hit the inside pitch.

The muscular New York first baseman has hit better than .300 every year since he came up to the Yankees in 1954, when he belted .340. But his average has been on a steady decline, falling to .319 in 1955, then .308 and finally .304 last season.

"The way it used to be, almost every club would try to pitch inside to me," said the six-foot, 200-pounder from Chicago. "If they do that now, I know how to handle the pitch. I'm pulling them down the line."

That precisely is what he did yesterday when he belted two homers to left field off fast-balling Paul Foytack of Detroit. The two blasts produced the first three runs of the game as the Yankees topped the Tigers, 5 to 1.

Skowron also hit his other time up to lift his average to a very healthy .362. Last year, Skowron was hit only three of his 17 homers in his own park and all three went to right field.

Manager Casey Stengel thinks Skowron can hit .300 every year. "This man Skowron," says Casey, "can be as big a hitter as (Bill) St. Louis. He wants to be. Nothing is going to stop Skowron but Skowron."

Walls Blasts Walls With Blazing Bat

By BOB GLASS
CHICAGO (AP) — Lee Walls, 25-year-old outfielder of the Chicago Cubs, is building a reputation as a first-class power hitter.

Moved into right field this year by Cub manager Bob Scheffing, Walls literally is tearing down enemy fences with his explosive hitting. In 11 games, Walls has clubbed seven homers and driven in 15 runs. His 39 total bases have kept the Cubs in contention for the National League lead.

"I hope my Walls don't come tumbling down," Scheffing said with a smile yesterday as he watched his bespectacled outfielder take batting practice at Wrigley Field.

His Two More Homers
Walls came through again with two homers although his effort did not keep the Cubs from losing to the Milwaukee Braves, 4 to 3.

"I always did like that trade," Scheffing snapped. He was referring to the trade which sent Gene Baker and Dee Fondy to Pittsburgh for Walls and Dale Long.

"I see in the records that Walls only hit six homers last year," Scheffing recalled. The Cubs manager did not offer any real explanation for Walls' improvement but he credits some of it to Rogers Hornsby, the club's hitting coach.

"Some players just don't want to be helped while others have that desire," Hornsby said. "I worked with Lee at the Meza (Ariz.) training camp. He listened to me and he tried to improve. What we're seeing today is what he alone has done. I've only pointed out certain things and he has tried to correct them."

Started At Third
Walls originally was a third baseman when he signed with Pittsburgh in 1951. He came up to the Pirates the following season but was sent to the minors for three more years of seasoning.

A six-foot, three-inch player, Walls hit .274 for the Pirates in 1956 and 11 homers. The 1957 season was a disappointment to Walls and the Cubs. The Palm Springs, Calif., outfielder batted only .240 and hit six homers.

When Walls reported to the Mesa camp, Scheffing moved Walt Morin from right to left and told Walls the position in right was his if he could hit.

Walls did not exactly tear spring pitching apart but he was mostly experimenting in attempting to clear up the flaws in his batting.

"I've been meeting the ball better this year and I've been learning to look the pitches over more carefully," Walls said.

"I never considered myself a home run hitter. I think I missed getting a lot of hits in the past because I've tried for the long ball," he said.

gest names in the grappling sport.

... Jim Condon, vacationing in Florida, sends a clipping from the Miami sports column of Norris Anderson which contains the following interesting anecdote: "My old friend, Frank Leahy, the former Notre Dame football coach, was always known as a man who'd do anything to keep up his teams."

During training for the 1954 College All-Star game, head coach Jim Tatum called a conference of his assistants.

... Said Jim, worriedly: "We've got five kids from Notre Dame on that first team, but they are dragging. Under Leahy, they played like All-Americans. What can we do to key 'em up?"

... Answered one of Jim's assistants, Forest Evashevski of Iowa: "You'll have to have a heart attack at least, Jim. These kids are used to the best."

... Bucky Bolyard, the "Aurora Borealis," last season's West Virginia University baseball pitching ace, is leading the Mountaineers in batting this season with a robust .486 average.

... Bolyard plays the outfield when he's not pitching.

... Paul Schmidt, who played brilliant basketball to lead Duke to the top of the Atlantic Coast Conference during the regular season, has been named the Blue Devils' most valuable player for the 1958 campaign.

... Schmidt, who hails from Johnstown, Pa., had his best night against West Virginia when Duke upset the nation's No. 1 team.

... He held Mountaineer ace Lloyd Sharrar to three field goals while scoring 12 points himself.

... Mike Valan, who operated the Wheeling Blues in the old All American Basketball League when Cumberland was a member, says interests of the West Virginia city have decided not to seek a franchise in the new American Basketball Association.

... Valan had been promised a franchise but said he was having difficulty getting help to run the club.

... Valan, a relative of Mike Valandas, operator of Cumberland's Star Restaurant, is now working with the Greek Charitable Institutions, covering six dioceses, with the aim of building homes for the aged, orphans and retarded youngsters.

... Cumberland's Dick Clower, who has completed two seasons as Western Maryland College basketball coach, is serving as boss of the Green Terror trackmen this spring for the first time.

Youth Fails, Willie Pep Wins Again

BOSTON (AP) — Willie Pep, former king of the featherweights who refuses to quit to age, today planned a brief rest before taking on the next youthful boxer who thinks he is ready for the old master.

"I just want a couple of weeks off and then I'll be ready for any other fella who hinks he can knock off old Willie," the 35-year-old fighter from Hartford, Conn., said.

Pep once again has too much to let youth have its sting as he earned a 10-round unanimous decision over previously unbeaten Jimmy Kelley of Lowell before 4,191 Tuesday night at Mechanics Building.

Willie displayed an assortment of punches in holding off bull-like charges to end the 19-year-old Kelley's 15-bout undefeated streak.

Kelley, bleeding from a cut above his left eye and the nose from the first round, tried gamely until the final bell, but couldn't catch the elusive Pep.

The victory was No. 213 for Pep who turned pro back in 1940 when Kelley was a child in his native Greece.

Pep, who weighed 129½, to 132 for Kelley, was credited with every round by Judge Jim Carrig, 100-90. Referee Jim McCarron scored it 100-91, while Judge Joe Santarpio had Willie in front 99-93.

The bout was not televised or broadcast.

Light-Heavies Clash Tonight

CHICAGO (AP) — A young kayo specialist, light heavyweight Jesse Bowdry, 20, St. Louis, tries for his 22nd victory in 24 pro starts against seasoned Clarence Hinnant, Washington, D.C., in a Chicago Stadium 10-rounder tonight.

Bowdry, making his TV debut, has scored 18 knockouts since he turned pro 2½ years ago.

Both his defeats were by Sonny Ray, the last by a knockout in July. Since then, Bowdry scored four consecutive knockout victories.

Hinnant, 25, eighth-ranked by the National Boxing Assn., packs a knockout punch too. He has scored 20 kayoes in 25 victories against 11 defeats and 1 draw.

ABC will telecast at 9 p. m. EST.

The women met with equal success, getting their second win in a row with a 43-34 triumph. They have lost two games.

Burdy Halderson, of Bartlesville, Okla., led the men's team with 18 points, high for the game.

Tigers Refuse Commitment On Race Issue

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers have refused to make a definite commitment to sign a Negro baseball player despite the threat of boycott action against Briggs Stadium.

Harvey Hansen, Tiger president, said Tuesday a Negro group which calls itself the Briggs Stadium Boycott Committee of Detroit demanded to know when the club planned to sign a Negro to a major league contract.

"They insisted that we make such a commitment whether we had a qualified major league Negro ballplayer or not," Hansen said. "We refused, however, to make a definite commitment, in spite of the threat of boycott."

Hansen said he told the group the Tigers were making every effort to develop qualified big league players, regardless of color, and that Detroit would have a Negro player on its roster "at the earliest date that such a qualified player was ready."

The committee is headed by the Rev. George Hill Jr., dean of the United Theological Seminary in Detroit, and claims a membership of about 40.

Prior to Tuesday's meeting, the Rev. Hill said "we feel that the club has had ample opportunity and time to hire colored ball-players."

Rain Washes Out ACL Card, Pair Tilts Set Today

All four games in the Allegany County Interscholastic League, including the intra-city baseball contest between LaSalle and Allegheny at Penn Avenue Field, were washed out by the heavy rains of yesterday.

Two have been reset for their afternoon with Beal of Frostburg to play at Mt. Savage in a 4 o'clock tilt while Valley was to meet Flintstone at Barton at 3:30.

The city clash has been set back to tomorrow at Penn Avenue and Fort Hill will be host to Bruce of Westernport in a pair of 4 o'clock makeup contests.

Potomac State College also had its clash with Davis & Elkins washed away with that once on tap this afternoon at 3 o'clock on the Stayman Field site in Keyser.

Frostburg State has cancelled its game with Shepherd College, being unable to make up the rain-out contest of yesterday as the Rams have three other contests to get in because of earlier postponements due to bad weather.

The Bobcats will get back into action tomorrow when they are host to Newport News (Va.) Apprentice in Mt. Savage at 2 p. m.

No reports were received on the half-dozen Potomac Valley Conference frays listed yesterday. One contest is on tap today with Romney playing town-rival West Virginia Deaf on the latter's field. Tomorrow the Pioneers are to be at Capon Bridge in another league encounter, the only one scheduled.

Bedford's New Course To Open

BEDFORD, Pa. (AP) — A new 18-hole golf course will open Friday afternoon. The 1,791-yard layout is located on Route 220 at Bedford interchange, two miles north of town.

The new course was built during the past few months by Bedford contractor J. A. Weidman and assistant postmaster Woodrow Clapper. Clapper will manage the course.

The course will be open for night playing, it was announced, within the next few weeks. Clapper said the course's holes are all par 3 with lengths up to 150 yards.

The course is the first of its kind in the Central Pennsylvania area, and the third golf course in the Bedford district. The layout covers 17 acres.

ABOUT THIS QUESTION:
"Last summer my car was stolen. I had $400 medical expenses from a heating accident, and a $3000 liability suit for injuries to the others involved—none of these losses covered by my insurance. Is it wise to have an local agent make a survey of all my risks and the insurance I need for full protection?"

LITTLE SPORT

'Hutch' May Have To Manage By 'Hunch'

By FRED DE LUCA
INS Sports Writer
To change his luck, Freddie Hutchinson may throw away his baseball "form book" and play the game strictly according to hunch.

The worry-worn manager of the last-place St. Louis Cardinals has been a baseball purist in making his moves. However, the strategy has backfired so many times in the last week that he'd be an easy mark for a ouija board salesman.

Last week in San Francisco, the Cards had a three-run lead with two out and two on in the last of the ninth. Hutchinson used the orthodox strategy and brought in a righthanded pitcher to throw to a righthanded Giant hitter. A triple and a homer followed and the Giants won.

Betrayed Again By 'Book'
The next day, again with two out in the ninth, Hutch told his righty pitcher to walk a lefty hitter intentionally to get at righty Daryl Spencer, who had hit the big homer in the previous game. Spencer singled for another Giant victory and Hutchinson almost became apoplectic.

Last night, the "book" again betrayed Hutchinson and the Cards.

With two out and one on in the eighth inning of a tied game, Hutch instructed his southpaw, Vinegar Bend Mizell, to walk righty Don Hoak and pitch to left-handed swinger Gus Bell.

Bell, a notorious "guess" hitter, proved Hutchinson a poor guesser by blasting a homer to give Cincinnati a 5-to-2 victory and push St. Louis deeper into the cellar with a 3-and-9 won-lost record.

The homer gave Bob Purkey his third win against no defeats and made Mizell's record 0-and-2. Johnny Temple also homered for Cincinnati as did Gene Green for St. Louis. Stan Musial had three hits to lift his average to a phenomenal .551.

Spain Wins Third
Elsewhere in the National League, Warren Spahn won his third as Milwaukee whipped the Chicago Cubs, 6 to 4. The Braves took over first place when Philadelphia defeated San Francisco, 7 to 4. In a night game at Los Angeles, Pittsburgh and Bob Friend beat the Dodgers, 7 to 1. Rain washed out three American League games, postponing Propeller Club members escorted them to the waterfront on busy Hampton Roads. There were plenty of ships in port but all merchant ships were foreign.

Non-Resident To Lose Lake Gordon Post

Ruling Declares
Bedford Man Not Eligible For Job

A non-resident worker will be taken off the payroll of the Water Department as a result of a ruling of the Cumberland Civil Service Commission.

Affected by the ruling is George T. Beegle, Bedford, Pa., who was employed recently as a seasonal employee at the Lake Gordon filter plant.

George M. Hitchcock, superintendent of the Evitts Creek Water Company has been notified of the action taken by the board at its meeting Monday night.

The board action was in line with a legal opinion it requested of City Attorney Thomas B. Finan on whether or not the City of Cumberland, through its various departments, can employ non-resident seasonal, temporary and/or part-time employees.

Finan said it was quite clear under Rule 3, Section 1 of the rules and regulations of the Civil Service Commission that a person is not eligible for appointment to any position under the Classified City Service unless he has been a resident of the city for more than two years.

He said the only possible exception he could see to the residential requirement would come under rules covering appointments for special emergencies such as for fighting fires, floods or similar catastrophes where appointment is not to exceed five days.

Finan said Beegle, as a non-resident, would in his opinion be ineligible for seasonal employment.

Finance Commissioner John J. Long recently informed the commission it had been brought to his attention that the Bedford man was a new worker at the dam and that there were eligible unemployed workers in Cumberland who would welcome consideration for city jobs.

He asked the commission to secure a legal ruling from Mr. Finan on the residence requirements.

Your Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Thursday, May 1, 1958

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries)—You do not have to be "fiery" to get the most from efforts. A calm, sturdy manner, with diplomatic overtones, can be equally successful.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus)—A work properly done is never easy. But satisfaction from doing it will be compensation in itself—and a spur to do better in the future. Be on the outlook for new avenues to improve your status.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini)—A good time to try something novel in your work. This will provide a diversion from stale routine. Promote harmony in business and marital relations.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer)—Day calls for alertness, eagerness, clarity. Advice from loved ones may aid in solving current puzzles. Have more desire for self-improvement. It will pay.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo)—Keep your toes and stay off of others! Interference is a general temptation now. Accent Leo's buoyant nature—and smile!

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo)—Mercury's position suggests that you be serene, think twice, and then more before speaking or deciding, or you may invite difficulties, upsets.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra)—Your natural outgoing capacities can be turned to much good now. Forget annoyances and think BIG.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 23 (Scorpio)—A discordant day. You may do one thing well, yet forget important details in another. You may remember everything, yet not complete matters as ably with as much desire as at other times. TRY!

NOVEMBER 24 to DECEMBER 23 (Sagittarius)—Don't waste time worrying if you did not do as efficiently as you should have at certain times in the past (all capable people have this regret at times). Start again NOW. Fine past!

DECEMBER 24 to JANUARY 23 (Capricorn)—Be prompt in handling all tasks. Forget others' failings. Don't forget—you have "looked" too. Put forth your best efforts, but don't try to exceed your limitations.

JANUARY 24 to FEBRUARY 23 (Aquarius)—Work for new gains. Special breakaway can be made in the unique, the original, in science, explanation, invention; with new devices and methods.

FEBRUARY 24 to MARCH 23 (Pisces)—You can do a lot with this type of day if you refuse to listen to dissenters and trouble-makers, and if you will realize how much you have to be thankful for. Don't wrinkle that forehead.

YOU BORN TODAY are well gifted, affectionate, eager, and can make great strides when not wasting time with idlers. You can be the life of a party, an interesting conversationalist, a musician with tremendous voice, maybe a singer or speaker with unusual flair. Cultivate your assets; curb indulgence; control temperance. Birthdate of: Joseph Addison, poet; George Inness, painter.

Jacoby On Bridge

Bridge Full Of Paradoxes

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Here is another hand from my good friend Gordon Keel of Vancouver.

He writes: "I was watching a rubber bridge game the other day and a hand with a new twist came up. South was an over-bidder and sure lived up to his reputation. He should have quit at two hearts instead of jumping to four. When the smoke of battle had cleared away South remarked, 'Well, I did guess the clubs correctly and if the diamond finesse had only worked I would have made the hand.'"

"It is my contention that South should have played West for the ace of clubs, in which case he would have gone down two. How about it?"

Mr. Keel is definitely right and has produced a bridge paradox. If I had been called in to play that four-heart contract (I would not want to have bid it), I would have reasoned that West needed:

Motorists Show Regard For Poles

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Motorists aren't running into utility poles here at the usual rate.

"Last year at this time our light poles had about $27,000 in damage from autos," says City Light Bureau Manager B. A. Devine.

"This year the figure is only $13,000."

A utility company spokesman joked: "Maybe drivers have decided utility poles are here to stay."
